A Sign of Respect: Strategies for Effective Deaf/Hearing Interactions

by Thomas K. Holcomb and Anna Mindess

2nd Edition, 2016

An online program sold by subscription

ISBN 978-1-932501-54-4

Distributed by Treehouse Video LLC

1. The price for high schools is $19.95 per seat. Minimum initial order 20 seats. A user assigned to a seat has access to only “A Sign of Respect Part 1.” Upon receipt of a purchase order or paid purchases of the minimum, free teacher accounts will be set up for the designated instructors at the school.
2. At the beginning of the school year, the designated instructor(s) for classes using the program will contact Treehouse Video to request activation of the number of seats purchased. Instructors will provide class information (course title, start/end dates). Treehouse Video will send a Class Group Code PDF to be distributed or announced to the students. The PDF contains a weblink for students to use to register for access to the program and to be placed in the correct class.
3. Students who register will be placed on the dashboards of teachers identified by the school as the designated instructors for the class. When these teachers log in to their free accounts, they will see their classes listed and have the ability to see the names of the students in their classes and their progress with the program.
4. At the end of the school year, all student information connected to the seats will be deleted, and the student connected to that seat will no longer have access to the program.
5. Seats can be re-used in the next school year at no charge, but will not be activated for the next school year until the designated instructors contact Treehouse Video to request activation with the required course information. If more seats are needed at any time, these must be purchased at $19.95 each.
6. If no activation request is received in a consecutive twelve month period, the seats will expire. If a school wishes to use the program again, the school must purchase a new set of seats.
7. Seats are not refundable.
